The Abilene bank in Kansas has busted, having ridden too far on the bubble of a boom. Liabilities $400,000, assets reported at $600,000, mostly froth.

California has had plenty of rain this fall in all parts of the state, in fact too much in many places, so that maturing grape crops were destroyed, and other crops damaged.

Europe was occupied by a fresh earthquake on Monday, that shook things up along the Mediterranean, causing considerable damage in Italy, and some loss of life. It extinguished all rumors of wars for a day.

Twenty lynchings have been arrested in North Carolina. A spasm of law and order occasionally takes place in the south, but it must be likened unto a stroke of lightning the spots hit being so small and far between.

The dimension timbers for a Turkish ironclad vessel, to be built at Alexandria, Egypt, are being got out by the Port Blakeley mill company. An English ship is in waiting at Port Blakeley to take the lumber to its far off destination.

The Cronin murder trial is now in progress at Chicago. The jury was obtained only after the examination and rejection of about 2000 persons summoned. Judging from the proceedings thus far it may be a question as to whether the court is trying the murderers or the Clan-na-gael Society. Perhaps it will have to be a trial of both.

J. W. Robinson, of Olympia, left Tacoma Friday morning for Washington, D. C., having in his possession the official election returns of this territory, which he has been instructed by Governor Moore to carry to President Harrison. It will be upon these returns that the president will issue the proclamation declaring Washington a full fledged state.

Work on the jetty at the mouth of the Columbia river goes on, and the mole is being rapidly extended. Extensive and gratifying progress has been made this season, and the intention is to push it still farther before the close of operations for '89. Adequate appropriations in Washington, D. C., this winter are justified by the favorable character of the work, and the improvement already manifest.

A wild hog was shot at Oakhill, California, which weighed 560 pounds. It was snow white and had tusks six inches long. John W. Rice of Brown's valley shot the monarch four times with his rifle before he died. He had been shot so often within the last fourteen years that a pound of lead was found in his body. He was the terror of Oak hills, and a rival of the celebrated "Club-foot," a noted man-eating grizzly of the Sierras, which killed fifty dogs.

A Seattle news dispatch says: Rumors are prevalent that James Hill, president of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba railroad, is buying up the stock of the Seattle, Lake Shore and Eastern, with a view to obtaining control of and completing that road and thus securing a through route to the Sound. It is certain that the Manitoba is reaching westward to Spokane Falls. It has built to Great Falls, Montana, and will probably extend its line by way of the Sun and Big Blackfoot rivers to Missoula.

The New York Herald says the following of the new state of Washington: No one can fully forecast what Washington may become. She has certainly the most varied, and without much doubt the most remarkable resources of all. Taken as an agricultural, a commercial or timbered state, her future may be great. The early years of the next century may easily find her second to not more than two states of the Union in importance. As a Pacific coast state she has an equal commercial position with California, and a very great advantage over the latter state in climate and in capacity for varied production.

Colonel Anderson, of Vancouver Barracks, in speaking before the ministerial association in Portland a few days ago on the responsibility of army chaplains in relation to the frequent desertions of enlisted men, declared this was a thing which chaplains were powerless to remedy, adding, that, in his opinion, it was the result of defective home training, which failed to impress youth with the sacredness of a contract and a proper regard for the individual word or oath. Col. Anderson has stated therein one of the great causes of army desertion. The deserters have no regard for the sacredness of an oath, and have less regard for their duty in the matter. They are generally a worthless act.

Arrangements have been perfected by the Port Townsend & Southern railroad, for 1000 men to commence work on the railroad between Port Townsend and Portland. The surveys have been completed. Active operations will continue until the final completion of the road to Portland.

Washington City Star: The defeat of female suffrage in the new State of Washington means more than it would in some other parts of the country. Women have been given the ballot there for several years, and the verdict of the male part of the population is like the little boy's comment on the pudding that made him sick: "Good—but no more."

Secretary Tracy left the Puget Sound navy yard and docks out of his estimates for the next naval appropriation bill, and now there may be no appropriation for them this winter. The Oregonian says that probably the naval importance of the Sound is not appreciated in Brooklyn. One of these days we'll have a secretary of the navy from the Pacific Coast.

An Ellensburg paper says: Another month of fair weather such as this portion of Central Washington has been enjoying for months past, will see all the principal business blocks in Ellensburg covered, and the great majority of the merchants in commodious winter quarters. The city is undergoing wonderful transformation, and is presenting a fine metropolitan appearance with its large brick blocks, stone pavements and all other improvements.

Building Inspector Abbott of Seattle said on Friday that there were over two thousand of all classes of buildings now in progress of construction in the city limits. This is said to be the largest number of buildings ever to have gone up at one time in any town of less than one hundred thousand population. Brick buildings are beginning to speak for themselves now. For a long time after the rebuilding of the city commenced, nothing but foundations had been put in, but now the walls are going up and many buildings are being roofed. The next four weeks will show more than ever, and things will begin to look like a city again.

Lewis Stimson, ex-marshal of Whatcom, who was sentenced to the penitentiary for one year for manslaughter, in killing Camille Lavelle, a tramp at Whatcom, was pardoned by the governor last Wednesday. Stimson was on his way to Walla Walla in charge of an officer, and the pardon was delivered to him at Seattle upon the arrival of the steamer Idaho. The ex-marshal is well respected in Whatcom and much surprise was felt over his conviction. Lavelle was one of a gang of tramps being escorted out of town on a morning on last February. He stopped into a saloon without permission and was struck by a cane. He showed no effects of the blow until he got on board of the steamer Starr bound for Seattle, and then he died. The marshal claimed always that he was murdered by companions and it is not improbable this is true. Stimson formerly lived in Oregon.

A Walla Walla writer in the Oregonian gives the following concerning the late Washington election: POLITICAL COMPLEXION. The democratic counties are: Franklin, with 10 majority, and Skamania, with 14 majority, one in the eastern and one in the western division of the state.

The majorities in the republican counties were: King 1071, Spokane 914, Pierce 910, Whatcom 828, Clarke 549, Skagit 394, Thurston 304, Pacific 367, Lewis 360, Kitsap 345, Klickitat 314, Cowlitz 312, Walla 289, Chehalis 285, Walla 240, Jefferson 229, Lincoln 206, Wahkiakum 174, San Juan 167, Akama 117, Garfield 105, Stevens 98, Douglas 95, Okanogan 81, Yakima 79, Island 72, Asotin 48, Columbia 23, Clallam 15, Mason 12.

Majorities in Washington. The vote of Washington on members of congress in the recent election was 58,531. The vote on governor was slightly less. The whole vote of Oregon in November of last year was 61,853; so it will be seen that Washington is not very far behind. Following is the vote, with majorities, on the state officials in Washington, including member of congress:

Table listing election results for Washington state officials including Congress, Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, and State Treasurer, with names and vote counts.

Table listing candidates for various offices such as State Auditor, Attorney General, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Superior Judges, along with their names and vote counts.

Table titled 'A SERIOUS BLUNDER' detailing political affiliations and vote counts for various candidates across different districts.

For Pure Food. The San Francisco Board of Health notify consumers which is the Best Baking Powder. San Francisco Chronicle.

The Board of Health can engage in no more laudable occupation than the examination of our food supply and the instruction of the public as to those articles it finds to be pure and wholesome, and which, therefore, consumers should use.

There are quantities of baking powders in the market to use which is certain detriment to the health of the consumer. They are made from alum or improperly compounded from other minerals, so that they leave a strong alkaline residuum in the food. Many of these powders, having been prohibited from sale in the East, have been collected by their manufacturers from the dealers with whom they were left on commission, and shipped to the Pacific coast. The public knows nothing about their quality except what it reads in the newspaper advertisements.

The action of the physicians of the Board of Health, therefore, in giving the public reliable, authoritative information as to the brand of baking powder to be used to secure the most economical and wholesome food is most timely. The chief brands of baking powders sold upon the Pacific coast were collected and analyzed by Messrs. Thomas Price & Son, the well-known analytical chemists of San Francisco. They found the strength or leavening gas (measured at 100° F.) of the brands named as follows:

There is a hitch in the admission of the Territories as states, caused by the delay in making up the returns in Montana, for which the President is waiting. It is stated that if they are not soon forthcoming from that Territory the proclamation will be issued admitting Washington and the Dakotas without Montana.

The organization of a company has been effected to build a railroad from Shoalwater bay to Chehalis, thence to a connection with the Northern Pacific at the most practical point, all things considered, to the eastward, crossing the Northern at Chehalis and again intercepting it somewhere in the region of North Yakima. The scheme has been brewing since last spring, and just what it will amount to time will tell. There is a good field for a road where projected.

A lady nearly prostrated by a Patent Medicine. A lady well-known in the Western Addition had been a great sufferer for years with indigestion and dyspepsia. Struck with the tasteless and nauseous 'Laxative Sarsaparilla', she tried them into taking another sarsaparilla, the leading sarsaparilla use mineral blood purifiers, the effect of the emptying of the bowels into a stomach already distended was disastrous, almost prostrating her. The mistake was rectified. She then turned upon Mrs. Fowler, of 527 Ellis street, whose name was among those cured by 'Laxative Sarsaparilla'. Mrs. Fowler said it was that it had cured her. Again reassured, the vegetable compound was sent for and taken. The gentle action of its vegetable stimulants upon the liver, kidneys and digestive organs, and its warm stomach tonic, were the very things needed, and she began improving. The lady is now well, and she has a fine complexion, and her old self within a fortnight. This salutary action, but the name can be given if necessary. —San Francisco Examiner.

J. M. Ogle, of Puyallup, entered the contest for the American Agricultural $500 prize for the greatest yield of potatoes from a single acre of ground. The ground he chose was near Slaughter, King county. The tubers were dug a few days ago and weighed 27,619 pounds, or 460 bushels 10 1/2 pounds, equal to nearly 14 tons.
