EXPLANATORY NOTE

The purpose of this Index is to make available to the legal profession of the State of Washington the leading legal periodical literature published in the English language during the past law review year. An attempt has been made to select the material which appears to be of interest to the judge, the attorney, and the law professor. In this respect special attention is called to the "Washington Cases" title where all notes, published during the past year, discussing Washington cases are collected.

Legal periodicals are constantly receiving added attention from courts and attorneys because they constitute the most recent, scholarly, and unbiased analyses of the current trends and developments in the law. In one respect law reviews may be considered as the advance sheets of legal textbooks, as it is through this channel that many experts in their respective fields critically analyze the current decisions and legislation, developing the ideas and theories which, later, are embodied in the standard legal treatises.

All articles cited in this Index are available at the University of Washington Law Library. Subject to the paramount needs of the Law School, judges and attorneys living outside of Seattle may obtain them on a loan basis for a period of one week, subject to renewal, upon assuming the transportation costs and risk of loss. Attorneys living in Seattle are urged to use the law reviews at the Law Library only.
